Curricular Activities

The Health Occupations class are Nancy Hetz, Sheila McCarty, Karen Sisler, Cindy Knox, Berenice Edgar, Stacy Sisler, Lori Sisler, Mrs. Elsie Slagle, instructor, and Ronda Sisler.

Several activities were held outside the usual classroom learning situation sponsored by different vocational and academic classes. Mrs. Linda Buckel's Advanced Reading Class started a drive to raise money and collect books for Grantsville's Goodwill Mennonite Home and the Jennings Head Start Program. A new Health Occupations Class was offered to seniors, and its students participated in learning experiences at Oakland's Memorial Hospital. The French class colaborated with Southern's to travel to French-speaking Quebec City in Canada, and as a new experience, our band took a trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, for a competition there.

Members of the Advanced Reading Class take time out from buying books at the Country Club Mall.

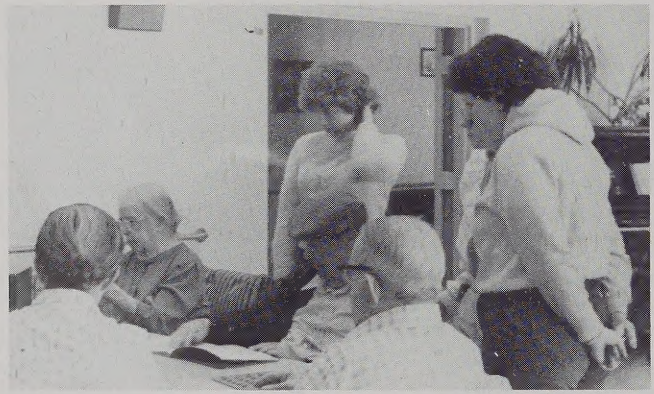
Advanced Reading Class

Julie Robeson and Kevin Sines take time out to check records and look through new books.



Melissa Bittinger, Virginia Guthrie, and Michele Glotfelty stand by ready to help at the nursing home.

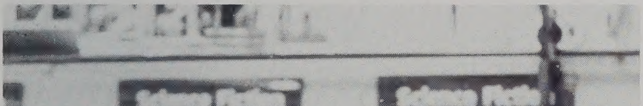
Mrs. Linda Buckel's second term Advanced Reading Class sponsored a book drive, collecting and raising money to buy new books to distribute to the Jennings Head Start and the Goodwill Mennonite Home. Clubs and individuals donated money and new books to the drive. The class went to the Country Club Mall to purchase additional books with the money they had collected.

New books are presented to one of the residents by Kim Bender and Marci Beiler.

Sponsors Book Drive

Amy Swauger has selected some books to present to the Head Start.

In Waldenbooks, Mrs. Linda Buckel looks through the selection of pet books.



At the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, Virginia Guthrie and Michele Glotfelty look through new books with the senior citizens.

Special Ed. Has Action-Packed Year

The Special Education class, with their teacher, Mrs. Carole Ann Lovett, participated in many activities. One such new activity was an exchange with Southern High School's Special Education class. A luncheon was prepared by NHS students, and the two groups ate their meal together. The class tried skiing and also used the new Fitness Course. They also helped Mrs. Lisa Carlisle's class prepare hoagies for their hoagie sale, as mentioned before.

For two weeks of this year, the Special Education class learned the basics of Cross Country skiing. Here, Barry Frazee takes time out from gliding across the snow, to pose for a picture, while Anne Hershick watches his style.

SCHOOL LIFE

Homecoming Night

After being crowned Homecoming Queen, Sheila Bender and her escort, Kenny Miller, take time out to pose for the camera.

After much anticipation, Mr. Ed Green crowns Sheila Bender Homecoming Queen.

Steve Zumpano escorts candidate Tammy Broadwater onto the football field.

Liz Sisler and escort Jeff McClintock await the outcome of students' votes.

Becomes "Almost Paradise"

Presenting Sheila Bender with flowers, Kim Habel relinquishes the crown of the Homecoming Queen.

Cheerleaders Crystal Thomas, Missy Margraff, Susie Kolbfleisch, and Rita Friend boost spirits at one of the season's most important football games.

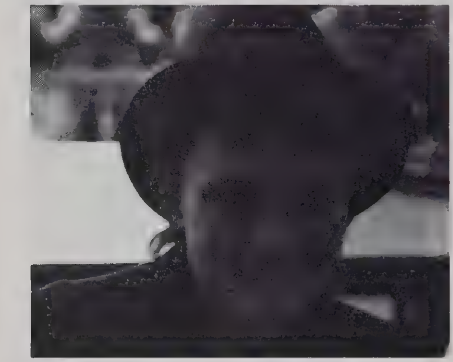
Jill Margroff and Randy Kamp eagerly await the results of Homecoming Queen.

Active in cheering throughout the game, Missy Margraff is escorted at halftime by George Walker.

Leading up to Homecoming night, there were events to get the student body involved. The football team nominated Sheila Bender, Tammy Broadwater, Missy Margraff, Jill Margroff, and Liz Sisler as candidates for Homecoming queen, and the student body voted on these nominees. Student Council held a bonfire that boosted the team's spirit, and the cheerleaders sponsored Spirit Week and an after-the-game dance. At halftime of the Northern vs. Turkeyfoot football game, Sheila Bender was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Students Express Spirit

Winners of a dress-up day, Jeff Kelly, Tonya Duckworth, and Danita Friend, receive free milkshakes from cafeteria workers Mary Frantz, Margaret Glotfelty, and Freda Reichenbecher.



Danielle Luscombe shows her spirit by wearing a hat on Hat Day.

On each day of Homecoming week, the cheerleaders sponsored a dress-up day to get the student body involved in boosting school spirit. Monday was Hat and Button Day, Tuesday was Roughy-Toughy Day, Wednesday was Sweat Day when Students were to wear sweat suits, Thursday was Rock and Roll Day, and Friday was Blue & Gold Day. On Thursday there was a contest for the best costume on each lunch shift.

Mary Rafferty, Jenny Dailey, Crystal Swauger, Sheila Beitzel, and Kim Frank pose for the camera on Hat Day.

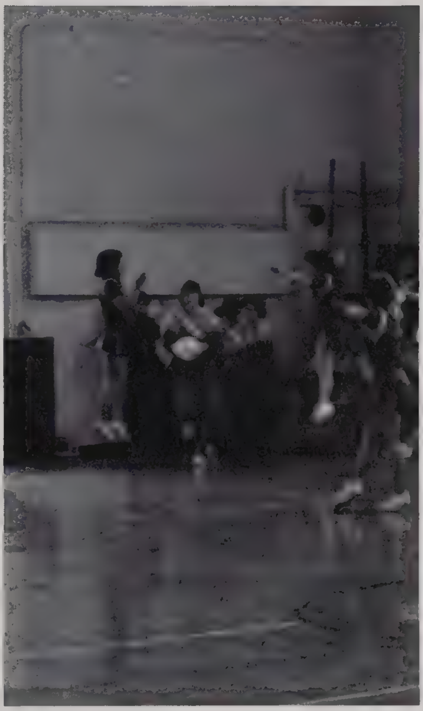
Throughout The Year

The cheerleaders perform a dance routine to "Footloose" at the volleyball pep rally.

Due to the success of the volleyball team, the cheerleaders held a pep rally in honor of them. All the players were introduced by the coaches, and some of them gave examples of how they practiced every night during volleyball season. At the beginning of the pep rally the Drill Team performed. Throughout the rest of the time, both the J.V. and the Varsity cheerleaders urged the student body to cheer for the volleyball team.

At a pep rally before regional play-offs, the volleyball team is recognized by the student body.

Cheerleader Missy Margraff and Autumn Frazee, the Husky mascot, enjoy cheering with the crowd.

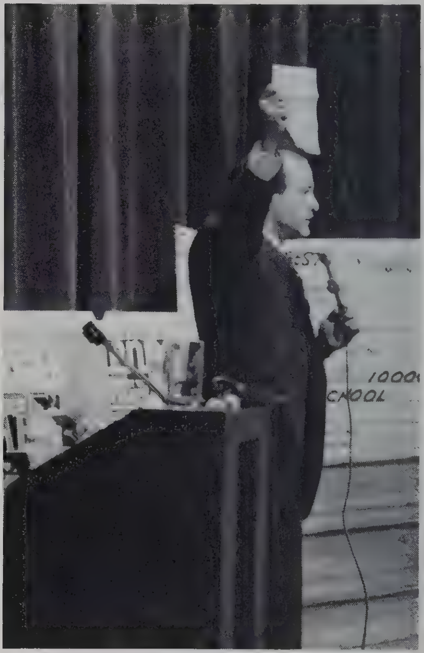


After the cheerleaders do their breaking-through cheer, the volleyball team runs out into the gym for the pep rally as they do for regular games.

Assemblies Provide A

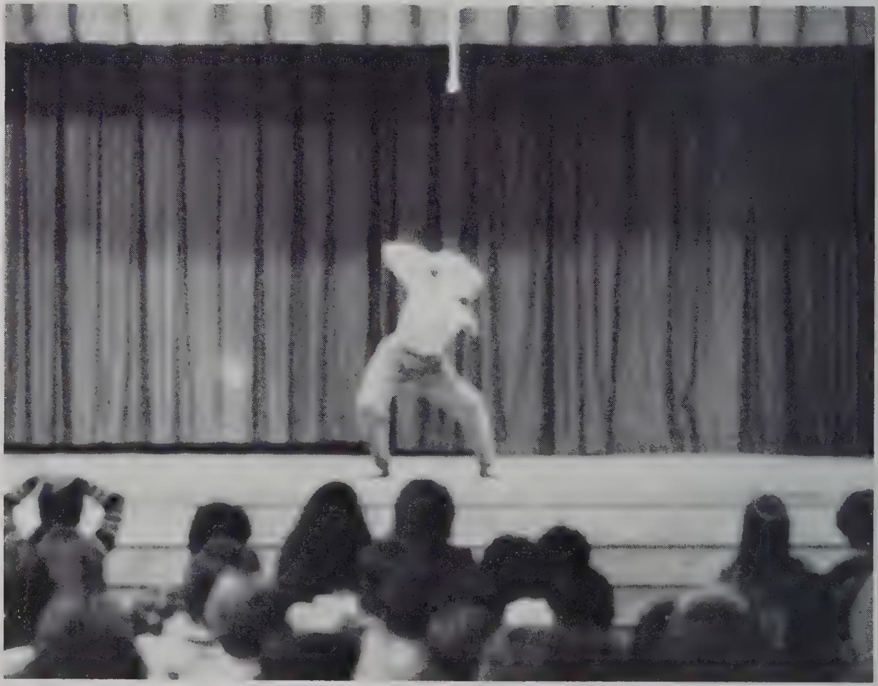
Taking a break from assisting the magazine campaign representative, Manager Autumn Frazee and Co-manager Julie Robeson listen to the assembly with the rest of the students.

Mr. Rich Albert, QSP representative for the magazine campaign, informs the students on how to fill out order forms correctly.



At the beginning of the school year, many of the students participated in the magazine campaign. Total sales reached $7,902.23. The high sales people were Conrad Maust with $291.23 and Brenda Beiler with $243.30. Miss Joanna Miller's Homeroom brought in the most sales, winning the stuffed unicorn.

From the Richmond Shepard Performing Workshop, a mime artist came as entertainment for the juniors and seniors. The program featured skits that were performed without the use of props or words.



A mime artist from the Richmond Shepard Performing Workshop entertains the juniors and seniors at a special assembly.

Break From Regular Classes

The chorus, under the direction of Mr. James Boord,perform their Christmas program for the students.

Before Christmas vacation, the chorus and band gave evening performances of their Christmas program at the Accident, Friendsville, and Grantsville elementary schools. On December 20, they presented their performance to the student body.

Other assemblies presented throughout the year included a program on Drunk Driving on February 14 by Officer Bill Steele of Anne Arundel County. Also, on January 16, a trampoline performance was scheduled by the Antrim Bureau, Inc. from Glenside, Pennsylvania.

On May 6, the candidates running for Student Council offices gave their campaign speeches in an assembly for the underclassmen. On May 7, the student body voted for the 1985-86 Student Council Officers, by using official voting machines.

Running unopposed, Michelle Glotfelty tells the student body of her qualifications for Student Council President.

Shannon Wright gives her campaign speech convincing the audience that she is the one for Vice-President.

Stacey Sisler And Liz Sisler

Heart Fund Queen Stacey Sisler and runners up Tina Guthrie and Becky Meyers accept honors from Mrs. Anna Mary Fratz, Mr. Edward Green, and Miss Mildred Wucik.

The 1985 Heart Fund Queen was Stacey Sisler, who represented the Girls' Varsity Club. She raised $150.00 for the Heart Fund. Other girls running and the clubs they represented were Becky Meyers, Aerobics; Stacey Thomas, Band/Drill Team; Susie Kolbfleisch, Basketball; Robin Frazee, Career Employability; Karen Weimer, Cheerleading; Brenda Beiler, Computer; Lucretia Huse, Jr. FFA; Amy Hinebaugh, Sr. FFA; Chris Rounds, FHA; Tracy Workman, God Squad; Lori Sisler, Health; Amy Margroff, Lettermen's Club; Katherine Beadle, Literary Magazine; Marcie Beiler, Logic Games; Tina Guthrie, SADD; Jenny Thoman, Ski Club.

After being crowned Heart Fund Queen, Stacey Sisler discusses the fund raiser with Mrs. Anna Mary Fratz, representative for the Garrett County Heart Fund.

Reign Over Winter Activities

The 1985 Snowball Queen is Liz Sisler, escorted by Jeff McClintock.

During a dance sponsored by the Lettermen's Club, Liz Sisler was crowned 1985 Snowball Queen. During a club period, the Lettermen had nominated five girls from each grade to run for Snowball Princesses and five girls in the twelfth grade for Queen. The student body voted for one girl for each position, and the results were: Sheli Bittinger, ninth grade princess; Bev McCarty, tenth grade princess; Julie Robeson, and Adrienne Cowan tied for eleventh grade princess; Missy Margraff, twelfth grade princess; and Liz Sisler, Queen. The D.J. for the dance was Billy Weisgerber from WXIE in Oakland.

The 1985 Snowball Princesses are Bev McCarty escorted by Rodney Wilson, Sheli Bittinger escorted by Randy Kamp, Julie Robeson escorted by Kevin Sines, Adrienne Cowan escorted by Mark Robeson, and Missy Margraff escorted by Jeff Gillum.

Marcie Beiler rehearses her solo act by singing "Babe".

Putting their talents together, Brian Saulpaw, Sherri Frantz, Marcie Beiler, and Carson Yoder practice for their talent show performance.

Variety Of Talent

Marcie Beiler and Sheila Bender captured first place with their performance of "I Wish You Jesus".

"Wipe Out" performed by Bobby Taliaferro and Brian Saulpaw came in third place.

Mary Bowser, Ann Hersick, Barry Frazee, and Jeff Bittinger took the Students' Choice Award with their rhythmic routine.

Dee Dee Seaman won second place with a dance routine to "The Heat Is On".

Students Present

Detective Baxter (Mark Robeson) questions Marian Selby (Michele Clutter), Vickie Reynolds (Miranda Hicks), and Claire Marshall (Shari Broom) about the murder of Richard Marshall (Brent Beachy).

On April 18th and 19th, student actors and actresses presented "Busy Body" to the student body. The cast consisted of LuAnn Hartley (Mrs. Piper), Brent Beachy (Richard Marshall), Richard McFetridge (Detective Goddard), Mark Robeson (Detective Baxter), Shari Broom (Claire Marshall), Michele Clutter (Marion Selby), Ralph Klotzbaugh (Robert Westerby), and Miranda Hicks (Vicki Reynolds).

Mrs. Piper (LuAnn Hartley) explains to Detective Goddard (Richard McFetridge) and Detective Baxter (Mark Robeson) what she saw the night of the murder.

"Busy Body"

Richard Marshall (Brent Beachy) accuses his wife, Claire Marshall (Shari Broom), of having an affair.

Mrs. Piper (LuAnn Hartley) explains to Robert Westerby (Ralph Klotzbaugh) and Detective Baxter (Mark Robeson) her theory of the murder.

Detective Baxter (Mark Robeson) criticizes Mrs. Piper (LuAnn Hartley) on her theories.

Tammy Swauger recieves a trophy from Assistant Volleyball Coach Robert Yunker for Most Improved Player.

Athletes Honored At

The Athletic Banquet was held June 1 at the Grantsville Fire Hall. John Braskey served as the Master of Ceremonies. The dinner was served at 6:30 and 7:30 the athletes were recognized and acheivement awards were presented.

Master of Ceremonies, John Braskey, gave the introduction of the night's activities.

Jeff Gillum and Howard Finzel discuss their involvement in sports while waiting for the dinner to begin.

The Athletic Banquet

Linda Margraff, Donna Lapp, Ann Kolbfleisch, and Glenn Kolbfleisch, parents of athletes, talk about the past year of sports.

Aiding Charlie Beiler with his dinner, Shannon Wright feeds him a piece of cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Douds talk with Dr. Jerome Ryscavage before the banquet begins.

Steve Zumpano, Randy Kamp, Charlie Beiler, Brent Beachy, Kevin Sines, Mike Bowyer, Jill Margroff, Kim Buckle, and Tim Brady are recognized because of their contributions to the varsity basketball team.

Girls' tennis team members, Sandy Lewis, Ramona Cowan, and Tanya Burdock receive trophies for participation.

Members of the softball team are honored due to their excellent season.

Juniors And Seniors Attend Career Day

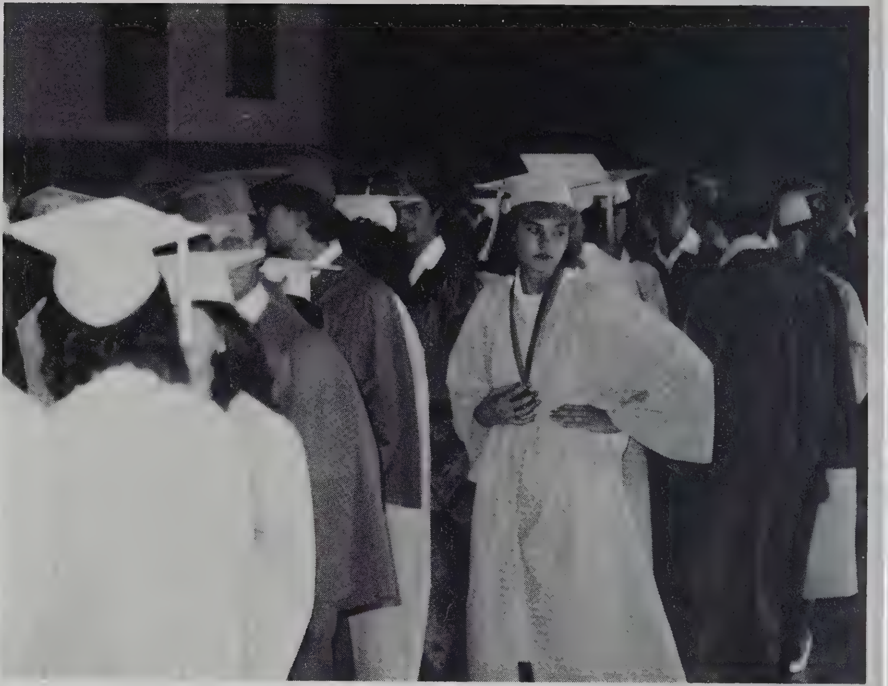
Northern students Georgia Thomas and Kelli Grove, accompanied by some Southern students, look at some different career opportunities.

On May 14, the Juniors and Seniors visited Garett Community College for Career Day. Students got to talk with people involved in many different careers such as Forest and Park careers, careers in the field of medicine, and computer careers. They also got the opportunity to talk with some college and armed forces representatives.

During a full day of looking at different career options, students take time out for lunch.

Four Years Of High

Preparing themselves for their graduation, the graduates make some last minute adjustments before entering the gym.



On May 26, the annual Graduation exercises took place. At 2:30 p.m., the Senior Tea began followed by the regular receiving of diplomas at 4:00. The chorus sang "The Way We Were" and "Time In A Bottle". The Garrett County Handbell Ringers performed "Pomp and Circumstance". Mr. James McKenzie, a former graduate of Northern, gave the Commencement Address.

The Garrett County Handbell Ringers perform "Pomp and Circustance" with much concentration.

School Leads To Graduation

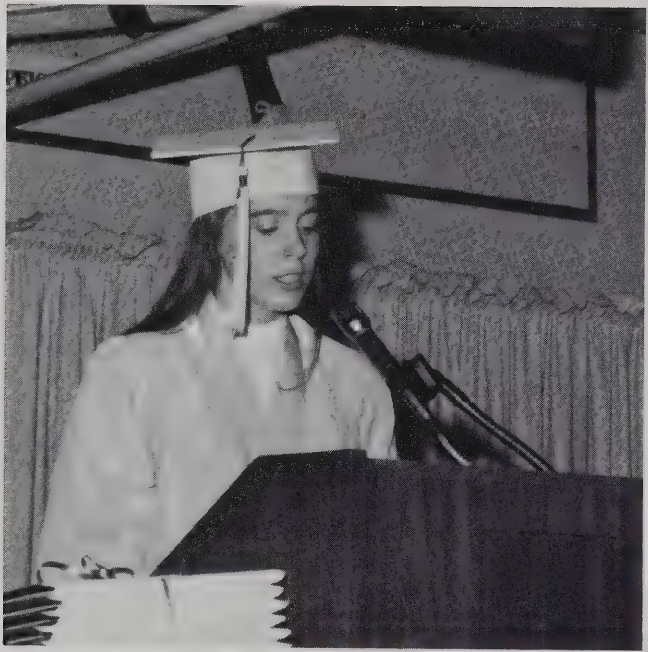
Mr. James McKenzie, a previous graduate of Norhtern High, gives the Commencement Address.

Taking their appointed positions for the graduation exercises, Brenda Beiler and Howard Finzel are filled with the anticipation of recieving their diplomas.

Senoior chorus members perform for the last time with the rest of the chorus.

Graduates Enter A

Salutatorian Brenda Beiler welcomes everyone with her speech.



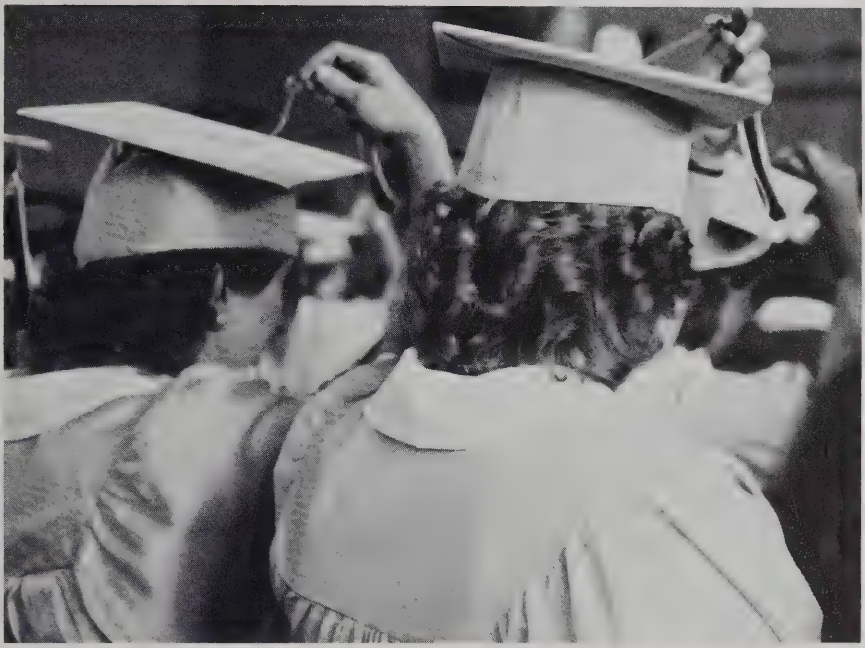
Carol McKenzie recieves a certificate for being in the top ten percent of her class.

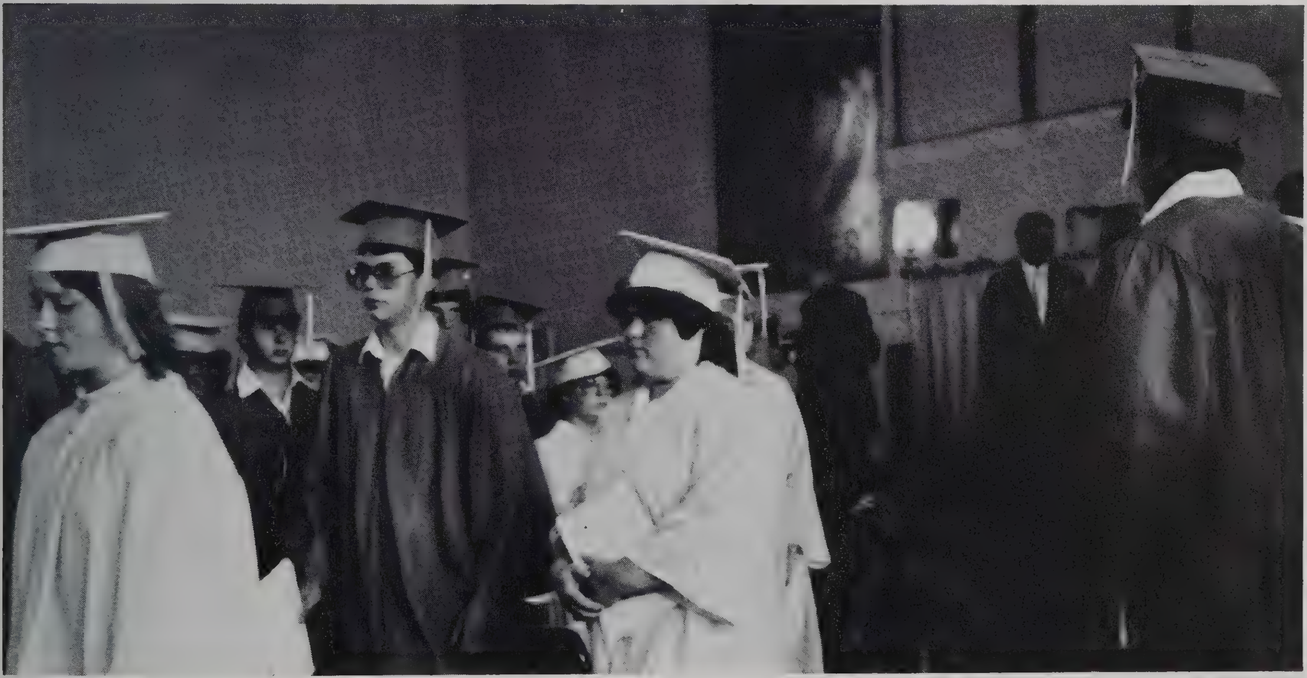
Frankie Durst receives a certificate for his efforts from Mr. Robert Yunker and Mr. Edward Green.

New Stage Of Life

Steve Williams, who was in the top ten percent of his class, accepts his diploma from Dr. Leo O'Neil.

After everyone had received their diplomas, the graduates do the traditional changing of the tassles on their caps.





Relieved that graduation is finally over, the class of 1985 depart the gymnasium.

The 1985 Prom —

Amy Margroff is crowned the 1985 Prom Queen by Mr. Martin Green and Mr. Edward Green.

Queen Amy Margroff and her escort Steve Williams are relieved that the tension built up before the announcement of the queen is over.

"You're The Inspiration"

Male prom-goers show how much fun they are having as they position themselves for a picture.

The 1985 Prom was held at the McHenry House on May 18. At 5:30, Natural Reflections took pictures of those who were interested. The banquet began at 6:30 followed by the dance. Sierra provided the music. At 11:00 Amy Margroff, escorted by Steve Williams, was crowned Prom Queen by last year's queen, Sherry Kolbfleisch.

"Sierra" provided music for students and their dates to dance to.

Adrienne Cowan and Jenny Thoman dance to the sounds of "Sierra".

Seniors Visit Pittsburgh

After spending the day in Kennywood, the seniors have dinner on the Gateway Clipper.

On May 17, the seniors visited Pittsburgh, PA. First they went to Kennywood Park where they spent the day. Then they went to the Gateway Clipper for an evening of dining and dancing.

During their stay at Kennywood, some of the seniors stop for an ice cream.

Students Hold Mock Wedding

Deanna Titchnell and Chad Butler serve the parts of the bride and groom in the wedding during Family Life class.

Other members of the Family Life class try to catch the bouquet.

Student Council Is Involved

Student Council members were involved in various activities throughout the year. Missy Bittinger, Sheli Bittinger, and Jenny Golden traveled with Miss Wucik to Washington D.C. for a Student Council seminar. The Student Council had a Computer Match-Up as a fund raiser. For other fund raisers, they sold Huskie Paw Pops and stock in the new school sign. Tammy Swauger was named the "Most Involved Member" at the Academic/ Student Council Banquet.

Waiting for the time to leave, Missy Bittinger, Jenny Golden, and Sheli Bittinger prepare to attend Washington D.C.'s Student Council seminar.

In Many Activities

Michele Glotfelty, Tammy Swauger, Autumn Frazee, Missy Bittinger, and Renne Warnick prepare for the Academic banquet.

Selected as the most involved Student Council member, Tammy Swauger receives a plaque from Miss Wucik.

Seniors Say Farewell to N.H.S.

With the excitement of graduation upon them, Missy Margraff and Sheila Bender wave goodbye.

On May 22 before school began, the Seniors, in cars decorated for the occasion paraded from the scenic overlook to the school grounds. As a way of saying goodbye to teachers and friends, they decorated their cars with crepe paper and balloons, blew their horns, and made it be known that their high school years had come to an end.

Adding a touch of originality, Howard Finzel parades in front of the school.

Karen Fink and Danita Friend show their enthusiasm on their last day of school.

On Friday, May 17, seniors boarded two chartered buses at 8:45 a.m. for their annual senior trip. They arrived at Kennywood at 11 a.m. and enjoyed the thrilling rides. Each senior got 48 tickets to ride different rides such as the Thunderbolt, Log Jammer, Jack Rabbit, Pirates Ship, Bumper Cars, and the exciting new ride, the Raging Rapids. Seniors changed clothes at Kennywood and boarded the Gateway Clipper at 6 p.m. The Captain's Dinner Cruise lasted from 7 to 10 p.m. The cost of this trip was $32.50 per person, which was paid in advance. This included bus transportation, ride tickets, dinner cruise on the Gateway Clipper, and wine glasses with the Gateway Clipper on it.

Students board the chartered bus to Kennywood on May 17.

Dressed up as the school mascot, Autum Frazee shows her school spirit during a football game.

At the academic banquet on May 10, eleven students were rewarded for their efforts, stride and achievement as a superior students. They worked with the goal of getting a position in the top ten percent of their graduating class. Long hours of hard work paid off for these eleven seniors.

Attendance winner, Randall Spangler, receives his award.

Prom Preparation Indicates

Junior Class officers are: Julie Robeson (president), Crystal Thomas (vice president), Michele Glotfelty (secretary), Karen Weimer (treasurer).

Along with studying and keeping up their grades, the juniors had to give the seniors a prom. The junior class chose four classmates to represent them in choosing decorations and in organizing the prom. The four representatives met with Junior Class advisors, Mr. Martin Green and Mr. Gerald Snelson, to discuss details concerning the prom. During the school year most of the junior class participated in selling 150 cases of candy bars, raising approximately $850.

Junior class advisors Mr. Gerald Snelson and Mr. Martin Green met with the Junior Class officers during the school day to make decisions on the Junior-Senior prom.

In Driver Education

Sophomore year brought world history and biology as a required course, and a popular elective was Driver Education. Driver Education showed the students the proper technique for parallel and perpendicular parking. From officer Bill Steele they also learned about the death rate of people when they were drinking and driving. Officer Bill Steele also showed the students some filed pictures of alcohol-related accidents.

Renovation Fails

Mr. Edward Green
Principal

For Mr. Edward Green, principal, a major priority was trying to find a place for students during renovation in the upcoming year, only to be told in early March that renovation would be postponed. The appeal of Garrett County officials fell on deaf ears with the Maryland Board of Public Works. However, in early April, the state passed new legislation, reversing their decision and giving the Board of Education the 4.5 million dollars for renovation.

School Days

Besides directing the chorus, Mr. James Boord plays the piano for rehearsals.

No one seems to have kept an accurate record of the after-school hours spent by faculty members on extra-curricular activities. One look at the activities of the band and chorus, however, was enough to convince anyone that one example of a teacher who gave many such hours to his students was Mr. James Boord. The band traveled to competitions, some of them out of state, and entertained the crowd at football games. Besides the programs presented "at home," the chorus and band gave their Christmas concert in evening performances in Accident, Friendsville, and Grantsville. But all of this was possible only because of even more numerous hours spent in preparation. Even before school opened in the fall, Mr. Boord devoted the month of August to working with the band. He set up a band camp at Camp Hickory to prepare for competition. Regardless of placement or awards, his students found that their participation and meeting new people were worthwhile and memorable experiences.

Sixty-five thousand, one hundred thirty-five lunches—not all in one day, of course! But that is the number of lunches served by the school cafeteria this year. The prices for student lunches ranged from 75¢ for a full-price lunch, through 40¢ for a reduced-rate lunch, to free lunches for students who qualified for them under federal guidelines. Adults working in the school system who bought their lunches paid $1.45 for their meals. For both students and adults, rates for the salad bar were the same as for the hot lunch.

In addition to the usual chores of the janitorial staff, custodians found themselves helping teachers with the "great box shuffle" at the end of the year. Truckloads of empty produce boxes were brought in for teachers to use in packing for the one-year move to Northern Middle School for the upcoming year of renovation.

ACADEMICS

Northern Physical Fitness

Special Education students Lisa Matthews, Barry Frazee, Ann Hersick, and Mary Bowser perform the exercises given at the Reach/Touch Station.

The Northern Physical Fitness Course was built during the previous school year to provide conditioning exercise for gym students. This course was given to senior high students as a choice and to all ninth graders. Nineteen stations supplied instructions for activity. These stations ranged from the horizontal ladder to side bend exercises.

Patricia Rosenberger, Melissa Stanton, and Denise Gregory work as a team to do sidebends.

Course Involves Gym Students

Doing chin-ups, Glen Seaman makes them look easy and fun.

Ninth grade gym students try-out the Fitness Course.

Aaron Zumpano crosses on the horizontal ladder, while Eddie Lytel and Kevin Wassel wait their turn.

Struggling to reach the Jumping Bar is Kevin Wassel.

History teacher, Mrs. Vonda Yunker, awaits the school bus outside Maryland's historic State House, the oldest legislative building still in use in the nation.

Geographic Knowledge

On the way to Annapolis, a wrong turn was taken and students found themselves in Washington, D.C. En route, they were able to see the Capitol and the Washington Monument.

Geography of Maryland students were able to see the Chesapeake Bay in Annapolis as they ate their lunch on the dock.

Gained From Annapolis Trip

Inside the State House, George Edwards talks to Geography of Maryland students about bills concerning Garrett County.

While eating a mint-chocolate chip ice cream cone after dinner, Georgia Thomas enjoys the sights along the docks on the Chesapeake Bay.

Geography of Maryland students visited the state capital in March. In Annapolis, the forty students toured the historic State House, where Delegate George Edwards talked to them about legislative bills relating to Garrett County and the renovation of Northern High. Students also enjoyed the display of elaborate silver candlesticks and serving pieces, gifts from Maryland's counties. Other points of interest on the tour were the Governor's Mansion and the Naval Academy. The historic sites, of course, were not the only attraction; seafood lovers found pleasure in the taste of fresh seafood from the Chesapeake Bay.

Forms of amusement kept Dennis Hetrick and Jeff Kelley occupied during the ride home.

Vocational Activities Offer Special

Vocational courses are helpful to each student who is interested in making a career or having a skill in electronics, drafting, trowel trades, or industrial arts. When the greenhouse collapsed under heavy snows in January, damage of $25,000 was estimated. As a temporary measure, plywood sheets were used to seal the greenhouse. This saved 1,400 lilies, 300 mums and hundreds of seedlings. Loss of the building itself was covered by insurance, and some vocational students were given the chance to practice their skills in constructing a new one.

For Dennis Friend, Darin Carey, and Jeff McClintock, measuring the length of the new greenhouse is good practice which will help them with building procedures.

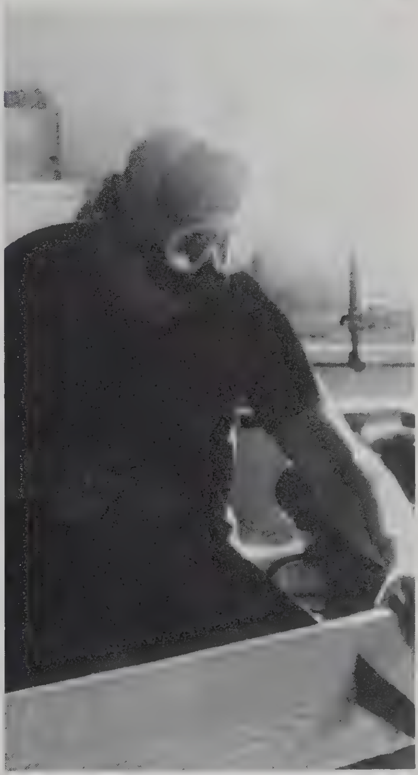
Electronics class gives Greg Wilburn and Kent Yoder experience in repairing and putting together experimenters.

Skills

With help from his instructor, Gordon Noble designed a magazine/wood rack for use in his father's shop.

Drawing up plans in Industrial Arts, Paul Ferguson works on a corner shelf.

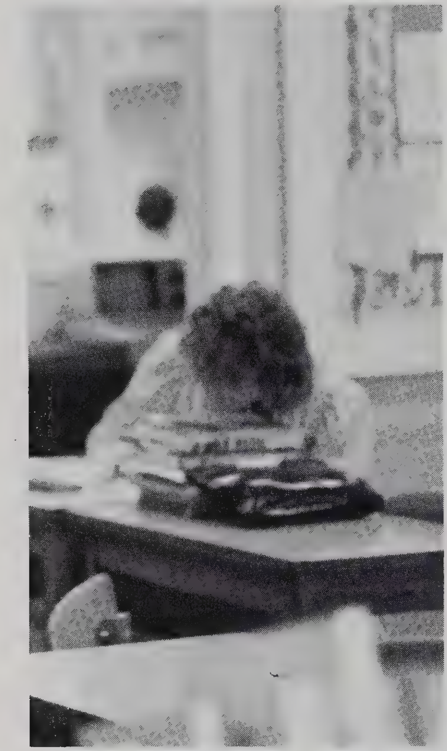
Putting the last screw in helps Dale Detreick complete his gun rack.



Todd Doerr saws out the precise amount of wood needed to build a Curio Cabinet.

Business Courses Prepare

Autumn Frazee, who plans a career in Business Administration, studies for a test in Accounting II.



Reviewing her notes, Stefanie Burow gets ready to take dictation in shorthand class.

Taking a test helps Sharon Weimer, Crystal Thomas and Yvette Killeen master the skill of Shorthand.

Students For Future Careers

Setting her margins, Brenda Tyrell prepares to type up a manuscript.

Mrs. Donetta Nice listens to Melody Taylor's question about business companies' transactions.

Students learn to prepare a combination journal that enables them to practice the drill.

In hopes of establishing a good business career, many students took accounting, shorthand and typing courses. These classes gave students experience in the business field and the knowledge and procedures necessary for pursuing a future career. A new I.B.M. computerized typewriter was added to the typing room to help students learn to use the latest model machines in addition to the basic manual and electronic machines.

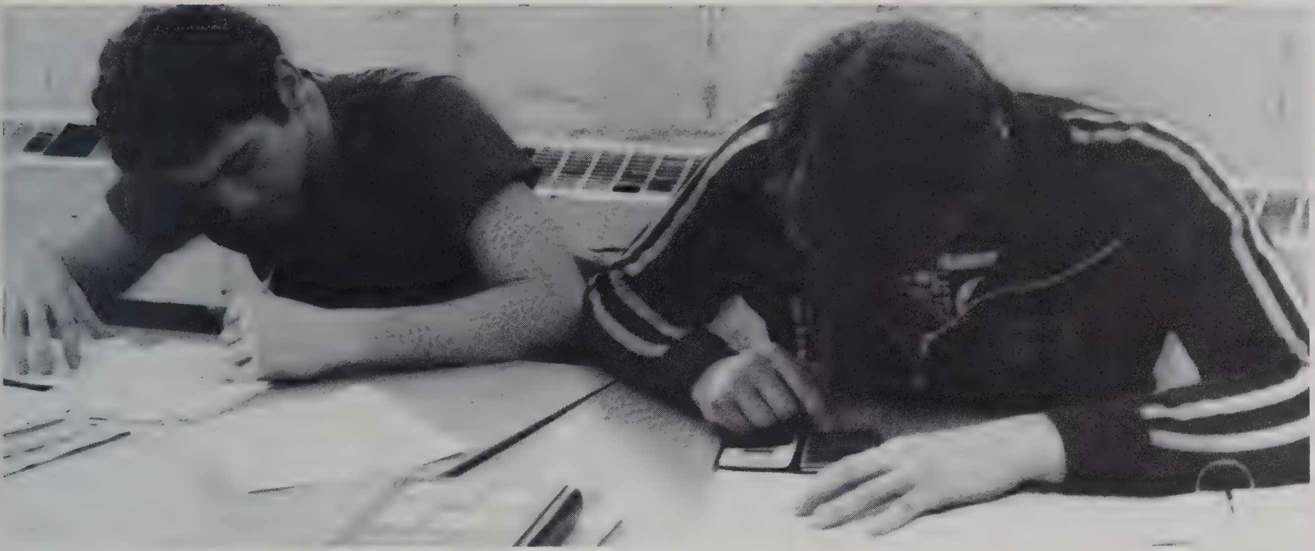
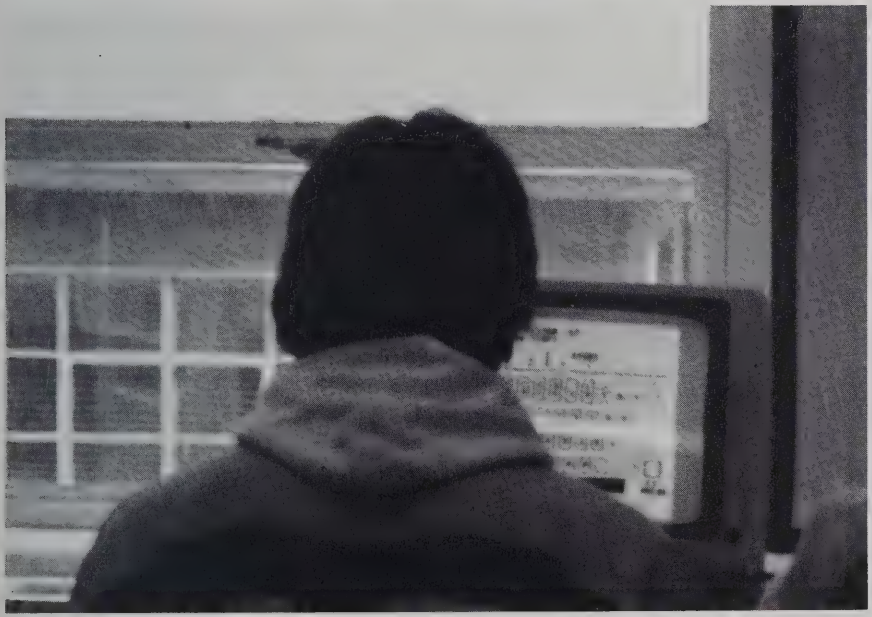
Become More In-Depth

Completing written assignments in math requires the use of the calculator for Robert Fisher and Ronald Stark.





Working on the computer program for a grade in Mr. Gerald Snelson's class are Steve Zumpano and George Walker.

Home Economics I classes prepare students for future courses in foods and clothing by teaching the four food groups and basic sewing skills. Each year these classes become more in-depth. Foods II and III classes studied nutrition and foreign/gourmet cooking, ranging from Italian and French to Mexican and Chinese. Students took a trip to the Peking Palace, a Chinese restaurant in Cumberland, for dinner. Clothing II and III students constructed garments of their choice by focusing on reading instructions and finishing techniques. In a special project, these students were given fabric to make curtains for the trailer being remodeled in Building Trades. Home Economics IV did meal planning and preparation for one or two and studied housing and interior design. In leisure time, students did crocheting, needlepoint and other crafts. The class learned about dating, marriage, family living and child development in an effort to better prepare students for life.

One of the jobs for gym assistant, Tracey McKenzie, is checking Carla Wakefield's golf scores.

Fifteen physical education assistants were picked by Mrs. JoAnn Robinson and Mr. Harvey Speicher, the gym teachers, to help them in taking attendance, starting class exercises and helping them give and grade tests. Physical education assistants refereed volleyball matches and flag football and softball games. If extra help and attention was needed, they provided that help for the students. The assistants made it possible for teachers to offer a wider variety of sports, since more than one activity could be conducted in the same class period. Ping-pong, weight lifting and badminton ran simultaneously under the supervision of senior leaders of one class. From these indoor sports, activities ranged to include archery, horseshoes, and running in the spring months.

New Program Boosts Health And Medical Training

Working in Supplies, Cindy Knox makes tags for charge slips.

Berenice Edgar, in Central Supply, sterilizes surgeons' instruments with the help of Dorcas Loui, assistant manager of Central Supply.

Health Education Occupations Class, led by instructor Elsie Slagel, was a new elective for twelfth graders. Nine students signed up for this course which taught them medical terminology, C.P.R., diseases and the human body, and how its systems work. Visiting the Garrett County Memorial Hospital two days a week, students rotated jobs in various departments such as surgery and nursing. This on-the-job training enhanced the education of students in the health field.

Some academic students chose Journalism as an elective course. Yearbook Journalism, under the supervision of Miss Joanna Miller, had ten members, with Rachael Dubansky as student editor. This class took pictures and reported the activities of the school. The newspaper staff, advised by Mr. William Kolbe, had eighteen members. They worked closely with Brenda Beiler, editor, to put together a new format which was smaller, less expensive, and easier to hold. Seven issues were distributed during the shcool year along with a Senior Souvenir editor.

Academic Banquet Honors Students

November Students-of-the-Month were: Sherry Fadeley, Karen Weimer, Karen Frank and Kim Buckel.

The third annual Student Council Honors Banquet was held May 10 in the cafeteria. Excelling students were honored with awards and plaques. The Student-of-the-Month program finished with a choice of Students-of-the-Year: Autmn Frazee, Julie Robeson, and Jenny Dailey and Linda Oester. Designated as Outstanding Students were Carl Schmidt, and Sheli Bittinger for ninth grade, Steve Dyche and Jenny Dailey for tenth, and Mark Robeson and Jodi Rush for eleventh grade. Announcements of this award for seniors was reserved for graduation day, when Brent Beachy and Autumn Frazee were named recipeints. At the banquet, other students were recognized for their achievements.

Students nominated for Students-of-the-Year program in May were Autumn Frazee for twelth grade Jenny Dailey for tenth, Julie Robeson for eleventh and Linda Oester for ninth.

Linda Oester, Stanley Beitzel, Julie Robeson and Autumn Frazee were elected October Students-of-the-Month.

Students Support The Arts

Masks were designed by Art III and IV students to represent a part of themselves.

Working on charcoaling and penciling techniques in Art IV, Angie Bender and Charlotte Snyder sketch drawings.

In Art I, five tenth grade students participated in a research project with some Jamaican students. They corresponded with one another about their works of art, which were exchanged by photographs and slides. These students examined the respective self/world views as demonstrated through their art and became familiar with the views and culture of students from another social setting.

Several classes worked with Mr. Don Cook, an artist-in-residence in the spring. They were involved in a 20-day workshop in which journals were kept to examine self-portraits of their written material on how they see the world.

Working on an extensive study of American Regionalism were the III and IV classes. This project was possible through a grant written by Mrs. Margaret Pratt, the art teacher, from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Students did a variety of ctivities which included pen and ink illustrations of John Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath and writing personal poems about our own Garrett County. A research paper project was required concernign regionalists-artists, writers, musicians, aughors, and poets.

French-Canadian Culture Explored On Field Trip

A ferry boat was taken across the St. Lawrence River to the city of Levis.

During the trip, Adrienne Cowan and Jenny Thoman attended a Deep Purple concert at Le Colise in Quebec.

Students from Northern and Southern High School's French classes took a 5 day trip to Quebec City, Canada, staying at the Chateau Frontenac. Their days were filled with tours of the Citadel, la Place Royale, Dufferin Terrace, Plains of Abraham, the St. Lawrence River, Pont St. Louis, and the National Assembly, and many more. Other scheduled activities included rollerskating, eating French pasteries at a revolving restaurant at the Le Concorde Hotel, Movies, and shopping. On Friday night, the students split into two groups- those wanting to go to a dance, and those going to a Deep Purple rock concert. They learned more about French culture and currency exchange, and experienced speaking French.

Students stayed at the Château Frontenac for the duration of their trip.

ORGANIZATIONS

Council Builds

Student council members Nina Luscombe, Mark Robeson, Ralph Klotzbaugh and vice-principal Mildred Wucik discuss next year's renovation plans at a luncheon meeting.

Student Council plays a major part in school life and organization. During the year the council did many projects that benefited the school as a whole. They sponsored Freshman Orientation and the new Big Brother/Sister program known as students helping students. They held a bonfire to boost school enthusiasm and conducted a computer dating service for the Sweetheart Dance.

The council sold stock for the completion of a new outdoor school sign, and at Christmas they decorated the lobby and constructed a wreath. To improve the council, representatives attended workshops, state meetings, and conventions, and Board of Education meetings. A new idea this year was an exchange between Southern and Northern representatives to look at the differences and similarities in all aspects of school ife.

The council joined the campaign to save the Statue of Liberty, they raised money for the Heart Fund, and donated $100 to the Garrett County Hospice Unit in memory of Chris Schwing.

At the end of the year the teachers were shown appreciation on Teachers Day U.S.A., and a Student Council Honors Banquet was Held. Guest Speaker for honorees and their parents was Delegate George Edwards of the Maryland General Assembly, an alumnus of NHS.

Club presidents are recognized during Leadership Week. Stacey Rodeheaver, Danita Friend, Scheree Savage and Brian Friend receive flowers from Michele Gloftelty and Autumn Frazee.

SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) was a newly formed club this year. They sent letters to families of NHS students so they could together discuss the realities of drinking in youth. P. A. announcements were made about deaths and accidents due to driving while drunk. The club also held dances at the school and at Whitacres' Teen Center to get students involved and to help them realize that drinking doesn't have to be a part of having fun. SADD members visited Southern High and other schools interested in forming SADD organizations in their areas.

The God Squad sold candy to raise money for their spring trip to Hersheypark and to pay for club t-shirts. Angie Bender organized a religious trivia game which was used in several club sessions. The winning team earned points that would go towards paying for their shirts. Guest speaker Mrs. Fannie Maust talked to the club on her dealing with cancer and how it has affected her life. The club also donated books to the Jennings Head Start program and to the Goodwill Home through the book drive sponsored by the Advanced Reading Class.

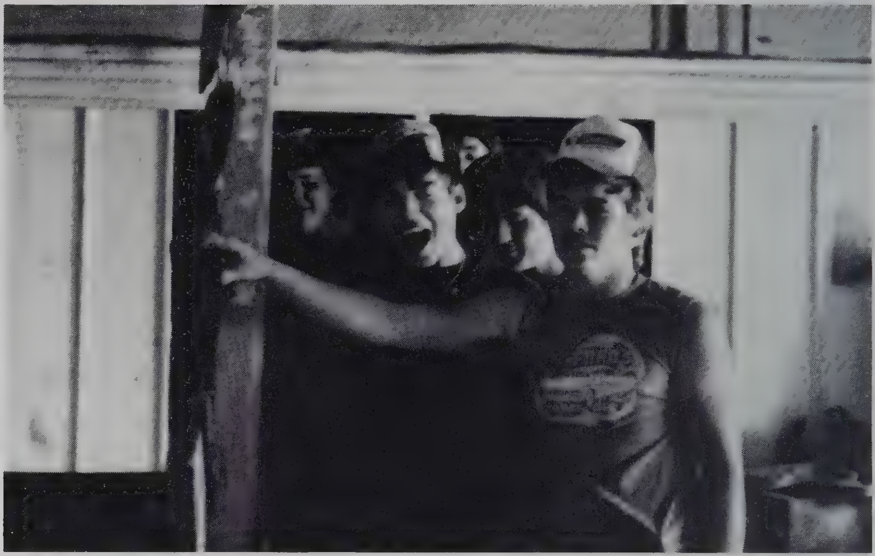
Homemakers Visit

Bill Meyers and William Winebrenner plant seedlings to sell in the green house.

Pushing in the wagon, Dennis Friend, Greg Sisler, John Miller, Todd Doerr and Robert Fisher pause for a picture.



Building onto their knowledge of farming, students who look into a future of agriculture can take advantage of the school's natural environment. Starting vegetable seedlings and learning to cultivate them is just a beginning. The club learned about modern techniques in various aspects of farming and equipment. They also learned how to use some of the equipment. They, as a whole, worked to experience an occupation for which Garrett County has so much to offer.

Enhances Ski Club Activities

Annual dues of $5.00 went towards activities such as a day of skiing at the Wisp, learning how to make cheese fondue, a "Pig-Out", where food from all food groups were prepared then eaten, and ski movies. The club also made a donation to the Advanced Reading class' project for books for the Jennings Head Start Program and Goodwill Mennonite Home.

Experienced Ski Club members took advantage of the good conditions and sunny day as they met the challenge of skiing "The Face."

Picking a good place in the sun, NHS Ski Club member Jenny Thoman and SHS Ski Club members Leslie Laraway, Jamie Thomas, Beth Zimmerman, and Tanya Vetter enjoy a picnic lunch.

JV Cheerleaders Sheli Bittinger, Sheila Beitzel, Jenny Golden, Missy Lapp, and Kelly Grove go through a floor cheer they did between basketball quarters.

The '84-'85 Varsity Cheerleading Squad had a successful year. Beginning their season at camp, they placed first runner-up for best squad and third runner-up in the skit competition. As individuals on the squad, Missy Margraff placed first in jump competition, Adrienne Cowan placed first in dance routine, and Susie Kolbfleisch was named best all around cheerleader. Throughout the year Varsity and JV cheerleaders boosted athletes' and the student body's spirit. They held pep rallies, sponsored spirit weeks, and made signs. Cheerleaders sacrificed many hours and cheered the teams on for victory in any weather.

Practicing their routine to the fight song they performed at football games are Crystal Thomas, Karen Weimer, Susie Kolbfleisch, Kim Frank, Adrienne Cowan, Rita Friend, and Missy Margroff, Varsity Cheerleaders.

The Drill Team Silk Squad provided entertainment throughout the year with silks and pom pons. They led the band in parades and added color and pizzazz to fall field shows and competitions. They performed half time shows at basketball games to show their support and spirit.

Many hours were spent at camp and practice with the band and on their own along with daily class practice. Routines were arranged by Captain Sharon Weimer, Co-Captain Karen Fink, and advisor Robin Combs. The squad was rewarded well, placing best band front in many competitions; and during the spring they went to Myrtle Beach, SC, where they received two seconds and a third, with a rating of excellence.

Girls' Varsity

To be a member of Girl's Varsity Club meant participation in one or more sports and enduring initiation week (five embarrassing days!). The club is led by Coach Vonda Yunker, and its purpose is to recognize female athletes as an important part of the sports program. Being self-supporting, the members raised money for letter sweaters and varsity jackets. This spring, the Annual Easter Varsity Banquet was held to recognize the athletes for their accomplishments through the yer.

Gordon, Brian, Debbie, and Matt march in Autumn Glory.

The Northern High School Marching Band received a large amount of experience. In addition to performing at football games and doing field shows,the band traveled to various competitions in Md., Pa., and Va. Among these were the Autumn Glory Festival, Where the band placed second in the parade competition. The band traveled to Shade, Frankfort, and Bedford, Pa. to their invitationals and won fourth place participation, and fifth place awards. To round off the year in marching, the band went to Myrtle Beach, S.C., to compete in a series of tournaments at the Caws Festival. While in Myrtle Beach, the band captured second place for the band front in the field show, a third place overall in the parade. The band and chorus went to the local elementary schools, presenting Christmas concerts. They also gave their annual spring concert to the public in May.

In Various Ways And Places

Loren Broadwater and Husky mascot, Autumn Frazee, support our Huskies at a football game.

Students of N.H.S. have done a fantastic job of supporting various charities and represeenting their school. There was a Hike-and-Bike which some of our students participated in, and a Type-a-Thone to raise money for leukemia research. Autumn Frazee was an Autumn Glory Princess in the Autumn Days Parade and Festival. Students on the French trip represented our school in Quebec, Canada, with French students from Southern High School. Locally, the entire student body represented N.H.S. with the annual magazine campaign, raising money for school needs.

Pictured above are the participants of the Leukemia Typ-a-Thon in which students had five minutes to type as many words as they could without mistakes. Those students raising over $50 were Kevin Sines, Liz Sisler, and Marla Hare. Together the whole group raised $477.45.
